

Principal's Foreword

Hello and welcome to Anglian College London.

We are a small, friendly college that believes in achieving results. If you want university-standard education, but cannot afford university prices, take a good look at what Anglian College offers. You will not find better value for money in further education anywhere in London.

What is our secret? Partly our location – in a historic part of Greater London, not the expensive city centre. Partly our premises – not ancient, ivy-covered halls, but functional rooms that formerly belonged to Greenwich

University. Most of all, we deliver quality tuition in ways that can fit into a full life of work and pleasure in one of the world's greatest cities.

As the Principal here at Anglian College, I am ultimately responsible for our academic standards. So I am happy to tell you that we have small class sizes, modern computer equipment, and quality written materials. Above all, we have motivated and well qualified lecturers, teaching to internationally recognised standards, watched over by efficient management. Everything is ready for you to get good exam results.

The rules for obtaining a student visa to come to Britain are becoming tougher. No more just pretending to study. You have to put in at least 15 hours a week, attending classes and studying, in order to prove you are a bona fide student. However, you can also earn good money by working up to 20 hours per week (and longer in the holidays).

Anglian College's location combines relatively low living costs with ready access to the whole of London. Even in a time of recession there are decently paid part-time jobs for any student who is willing to work hard and flexibly. And of course you will have access to all of London's rich cultural life, from museums to night clubs, from libraries to sporting events.

Our most popular course remains Business Studies with Information Technology – delivering just the right mix of skills for you to earn a good living in the modern, computerised, global village. And within our Health Care courses one field in which Anglian College stands out is Dental Nursing because we are one of the few places that is fully equipped on site.

Come and see what we have on offer!

Anthony Durham, MA, PhD
Principal