

Hugo O, Lecturer

Department of Language & Training

Hello! My name is Hugo Oxley and I head the English Department at Anglian College London, and I have over ten years' experience as an English and EFL tutor. Our department offers a wide range of facilities and is structured to meet the needs of students of all academic levels. So, if you are worried that your spoken and written English isn't up to scratch – don't be! We will ensure that your needs are met, and that you'll thoroughly enjoy your time and studies at Anglian College London.

Gloria G, Lecturer

Department of Health and Care

I have spent many years in the employment of the National Health Services (NHS) where I have worked and managed several specialities. Here at Anglian College, I am the Co-ordinator for the Health and Social Care Courses which the College is actively developing. I am happy for the opportunity where I can continue to put my skills and knowledge at the disposal of ambitious young people like you and your fellow students who are already here with us.

Ying Z, Lecturer

Department of Business Studies

It's good to see Anglian College London providing such a lovely atmosphere for its students. Having a sound knowledge of English is extremely important in all courses you do in the UK. Students can also improve their language skills while pursuing other course at Anglian. I would say our strength is high quality business, IT and health care programmes supported through the provision of English language tuition by genuine and appropriately qualified native English lecturers.

